

FAMOUS INTERNATIONAL PHOTOGRAPHER HIDES OUT AT BMA

If you happened to be at the Taiwan International Visual Arts Center in Taipei between September 16, 2006 thru October 11, 2006 you would have had the pleasure of attending "Theater of the Self" - The International Female Photographer Self-Portrait Photography Exhibition. The artistic work of our own Nada Savic was included in the exhibit. Nada was also invited to give a lecture. She reports back that Taipei was wonderful and she enjoyed many opportunities to experience

Taiwanese food and culture. Her creativity and often entertaining sense of humor is an added benefit to working here at BMA.

Nada has also showcased her work at other exhibits including the Collage of Life: Many Women's Voices Exhibit at the Women of the Academy of Arts University., in May 2005. While in Taipei an admirer of Nada's work purchased one of her pieces and I'm sure has displayed in a prominent place for other to enjoy. We look forward to more of Nada's work. Well done Nada... Bravo!

BILL MOORE IN THE HOUSE

September drew to a close with a visit from Bill and Marge Moore. One can only imagine the joy they must have felt to see their small business of 2 employees, Bill and his son Skip, in 1977 to 4 employees when Alastair joined the team in 1984, to 15 BMA'ers today. Several of the newer employees had never met Bill and Marge, so it was a nice opportunity to put a face with the name sake.

BMA PICNIC

BMA's 21st Annual Flounder's Day Picnic meant lots of burgers, dogs, pinata, volleyball, catching up with old friends, making new friends and fun for all.

BMA is known for its fun times. If you missed it this year, try again next year.
